REPARATIONS PROBLEM.

SUPREME COUNCIL MEETS TO-DAY.

LONDON, April 29.
The French and Belgian representatives arrived to-day to attend the Supreme Council. The Italian representative arrives to-morrow morning. Lord Curzon, on behalf of the Government, welcomed them. M. Briand is accompanied by Marshal Foch and General Weygand. The first meeting will be held to-morrow afternoon.

NOT ACCEPTABLE.

WASHINGTON, April 29.
It is understood that the British, French and Belgian ambassadors have informed Mr. Hughes that the present German reparations offer is not acceptable. The Japanese and Italians have not yet indicated their attitude.

FRENCH MILITARY MEASURES.

PARIS, April 29.
The Chamber of Deputies adopted by 445 votes to 73 a bill providing for the temporary retention of soldiers and sailors who have concluded three years' service, the calling up of soldiers individually, and re-enlistment of reservists voluntarily for six months, a year or eighteen months. This will ensure that the 1920 class, at least a part of the 1919 class, and probably many volunteers from the unemployed, will be available to occupy the Ruhr.

COAL DEADLOCK.

OWNERS' OFFER CONSIDERED TEMPTING.

LONDON, April 29.
Further coal negotiations are unlikely until the results of the week-end coalfield district meetings are known. The latest news from many centres shows that many coalfields desire a ballot on what is at present regarded as a somewhat tempting offer.

LONDON, April 29.
The coal-owners have made a statement that negotiations have broken down on a purely political issue. The men have been kept in the dark. The owners are returning to the districts where the men have been invited to discuss wages. It is unofficially stated many owners have been repeatedly urged by men in the districts to fix up some arrangement enabling a resumption of work.

MISREPORTED?

LONDON, April 29.
Mr. A. J. Cook now says that he was misreported. He denies that he stated the Miners' Federation decided to leave the Triple Alliance and says that he merely expressed a personal opinion.

[A London cable dated April 25 stated that Mr. A. J. Cook, a member of the Miners' Executive, addressing the West Ham transport workers, said that the miners were leaving the Triple Alliance until it was reorganised, remodelled and the men at the bottom, not at the top, were able to rule it.

YAP DISPUTE.

ITALY SUPPORTS THE UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON, April 29.
Italy has notified complete agreement with the United States on the Yap question. Italy is convinced that the United States is not seeking privileges at Yap which have not been granted to other nations and offers co-operation in the efforts to restore the equanimity of the world.

The Italian Government's note to America expresses the opinion that the United States intends to protect its interests in Yap with full consideration for the interests of other nations. The Note says that Italy seconded the proposal of the British and French Governments to refer the Yap controversy to a juridical committee and a conference of ambassadors in Paris and expects such a settlement, as will eliminate every possibility of disagreement.

DAVIS CUP.

BRITAIN AND SPAIN MEET NEXT MONTH.

The British Isles Davis Cup team has been selected against Spain. It has been arranged that the teams will meet in the last week in May on the hard courts at Hendon. The British team is W. C. Crawley, R. Lycett, A. R. Kingscote and M. Woodman. Spain is represented by Jose Alonso, M. Alonso, A. Flaque, and Coma Gomar.

DJAMBI OILFIELDS BILL PASSED.

THE HAGUE, April 29.

The Second Chamber by 49 votes to 30 passed the Djambi oilfields development bill after the rejection of a number of amendments.

ASSOCIATED PRESS CHANGES.

NEW YORK, April 29.

Mr. Roy Martin, who has for some time been acting general manager of the Associated Press, has been elected general manager in succession to Mr. Melville Stone, who, however, retains his connection with the Board in an advisory capacity.

SHIPPING NEWS.

THE PASSING OF THE S.S.

"VENEZUELA."

FAREWELL TO THE EAST.

Another familiar vessel will no longer be in evidence in these waters, owing to the re-arranging of ship assignments consequent on the arrangements effected by the United States Shipping Board. When the Pacific Mail liner "Venezuela" sailed from Shanghai for San Francisco she took farewell to Hongkong, Manila, and to further service on the Far Eastern route.

On June 1 the "Venezuela" will sail from San Francisco for Baltimore, inaugurating the Pacific Mail's San Francisco-Baltimore through-the-canal service. Her ports of call from that date on will include Mazatlan, Mexico; San Jose de Guatemala, La Libertad, Salvador, Kingsburg, Jamaica, and Havana, Cuba, via the Panama Canal.

One more voyage East will be made by the "Venezuela" sister ship, the "Columbia" and the "Ecuador" when they, too, will be assigned to the San Francisco-Panama Canal-Baltimore route.

SIR JAMES LOCKHART.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE RECEPTION.

Sir James Stewart Lockhart, K.C.M.G., F.R.G.S., M.R.A.S., LL.D., who is retiring from the position of Commissioner of Wei-hai-wei, will be the guest of honour at a reception which is to take place at Government House on Monday. Beginning his career as a public servant in 1878, when he took up a Hongkong cadetship Sir James has occupied many responsible positions in the Far East. In 1893 he was appointed Superintendent of Opium Revenue in Hongkong and later on in the same year he held the post of Assistant Colonial Secretary and Assistant Attorney-General of the Colony. He was married in 1889 to Miss Edith Hancock. In 1894 he acted as Colonial Secretary and when the New Territories were added to Hongkong in 1898 Sir James received a C.M.G. from the Government in recognition of his work as Special Commissioner. Since 1902 Sir James Stewart has held the Commissioner-ship of Wei-hai-wei and his excellent service and able administration again won recognition in 1908 when he was knighted. Three years ago Sir James Stewart was made a Doctor of Laws of Hongkong University.

ANNUAL SPORTS MEETING.

THIS AFTERNOON'S EVENTS.

The annual athletic sports meeting of the Victoria Recreation Club takes place on the Hongkong Football Club ground, Happy Valley, this afternoon. A fine programme is promised, and a very enjoyable afternoon's sport is assured. The most interesting feature of the meet will be the Marathon race, which will start from the Shanikwan Police Station. The course will be through Shanikwan Road to the tram terminus at Canaway Bay, then through Caroline Hill and Wongpet-chong Roads to the Football ground, once round the ring, and finish in front of the Grand Stand. A very close and exciting race is assured, there being no fewer than 27 competitors, including Toja Singh, the winner of the Colony's Marathon and Mair, the winner of the all British Marathon held under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Church Men's Association. Among the other entrants are Britton and Reaff both of whom have already figured as long distance runners.

Of the other events, the most interesting will be the ladies' bicycle race, for which there are 8 entries. In all, 83 entries have been received for the various events all of which promise to be very closely contested. A band will be in attendance.

AFTERNOON CONCERT.

Madame Lottie Gordon's afternoon concert takes place at the City Hall on Thursday, May 12, at 5.30. It is Madame Gordon's intention to present a most brilliant and artistic programme and it is hoped the wonderful success of her recent charity concert will be repeated. The artistes announced to appear on this occasion are Madame Lottie Gordon (operatic soprano), Mr. E. G. d'Aguiar (tenor), Miss Annette Rosello (dramatic soprano), Mrs. E. Cammion (contralto), Miss Edith Soares (light soprano), Miss Nellie Williams (mezzo), and the Misses V. R. and R. Young (violin, cello and piano). Tickets may be had at Moutrie's and Anderson's and booking will open on Saturday, May 7.

THE QUEST OF MOHAMMED'S SACRED SLIPPER SERIES.

VII.—THE POOL OF DEATH.

BY SAKE ROEMER.

(COPYRIGHT, 1917.)

In which Earl Dexter disappears and the beautiful "Girl of the Violet Eyes" makes an appeal. Ever closer draw the sinister lines of Oriental machination as Mr. Roemer's great series progresses.

"I am entirely at your mercy; you can do as you please with me. But before you do anything I should like you to listen to what I have to say."

Her beautiful face was pale and troubled. Violet eyes looked sadly into mine.

"For nearly an hour I have been waiting for this chance—until I knew you were alone," she continued. "If you are thinking of giving me up to the police, at least remember that I came here of my own free will. Of course, I know you are quite entitled to take advantage of that; but please let me say what I came to say!"

She pleaded so earnestly, with that musical voice, with her evident helplessness, most of all with her wonderful eyes, that I quite abandoned any project I might have entertained to secure her arrest. "I think she divined
this masculine weakness, for she said,
with greater confidence:

"Your friend, Professor Deeping, was murdered by the man called Hassan of Aleppo. Are you content to remain idle while his murderer escapes?"

God knows I was not. My idleness in the matter was none of my choosing. Since poor Deeping's murder I had come to handgrips with the assassins more than once, but Hassan had proved too clever for me, too clever for Scotland Yard. The sacred slipper which Deeping had stolen, and for which he had paid so dearly, was once more in the hands of its fanatic guardian, who had journeyed from the east to London in order to recover it.
What had become of Hassan of Aleppo and of his murderous following, the hashishin, was a mystery. The police were searching for traces of him, but days passed and no trace was found.

One man there was who might have helped the search—Earl Dexter. But Earl Dexter, called the Sombroero Man, America's cleverest crook, was himself wanted by Scotland Yard!

Up to the moment when this beautiful visitor had come to my chambers
I had thought Dexter, as well as Hassan, had fled secretly from England.
But this girl with the violet eyes was Dexter's accomplice, whom I knew only as Carnelia; and the moment that I saw her at my door I divined that the Sombroero Man must still be in London.

She sat, watching me and awaiting my answer.

"I cannot avenge my friend unless I can find his murderer," I said.

"But if I can find him?"

"Say what you came to say," I replied slowly. "You must know that I distrust you. Indeed my plan duty is to detain you. But I will listen to anything you may care to tell me, particularly if it enables me to trap Hassan of Aleppo."

"Very well," she said, and rested her elbows upon the table before her.

"I have come to you in desperation.
I can help you find the man who murdered Professor Deeping, but in return
I want you to help me!"

I watched her closely. She was very plainly, almost poorly, dressed.
Her face was pale and there were dark rings round her eyes. This but served to render their strange beauty more startling; yet I could see that my visitor was in real trouble. The situation was an odd one.

"You are possibly about to ask me," I suggested, "to assist Earl Dexter to escape the police."

"That would not have induced me to run the risk of coming here. I came because I wanted to find a man who was brave enough to help me.
I can repay you by helping you to trace Hassan."

"What is it, then, that Dexter asks me to do?"

"He asks nothing," I, Carnelia, am asking!"

"Then you are not coming from him?"

"At my question all her self-pos-sion left her. She abruptly dropped her face into her hands and was shaken with sobs. It was more than I could bear, unmoved. I forgot the shady past, forgot that she was the associate of a daring felon, and could only realize that she was a weeping woman, who had appealed to my pity and had asked my aid.

I stood up and stared out of the window; for I experienced a not unnatural embarrassment. Without looking at her I said:

"Don't be afraid to tell me your troubles. I don't say I should go out of my way to be kind to Mr. Dexter, but I have no wish whatever to be instrumental in—"

"I hesitated—in making you responsible for his misdeeds. If you can tell me where to find Hassan of Aleppo, I won't even ask you where Dexter is."

"God help me! I don't know where he is!"

There was real, poignant anguish in her cry. I turned and confronted her. Her lashes were all wet with tears.

"What has he disappeared?"

She nodded, fought with her emotion a moment, and went on,
unsteadily:

"I want you to help me find him,
for in finding him we shall find Hassan."

"How so?"

Her gaze avoided me, now.

"Mr. Cavanaugh, he had shaken everything upon securing the slipper—
and the hashishin were too clever for him. His hand—those Eastern fiends cut off his hand! But he would not give in. He made another bid—and lost again. It left him almost permanently."

She spoke of Earl Dexter's felon-ous plans as another woman might have spoken of her husband's unwise investments! It was fantastic hearing that confession of the Sombroero Man's beautiful partner; and I pointed the interview one of the strangest
I had ever known.

"The thing is absurd!" she said.
"I begged him, implored him, to abandon his attempts upon it. Day and night we were watched by those ghastly yellow men! But it was all in vain. He knew, had known for a long time, where Hassan of Aleppo

was hiding!"

And I reflected that the best man at New Scotland Yard had failed to pick up the slightest clue!

"The hashishin, of whom that dreadful man is leader, are rich, or have supporters who are rich. The plan was to make them pay for the slipper."

"My God! it was playing with fire!"

She sat silent awhile. Emotion threatened to get the upper hand.
Then—

"Two days ago," she almost whispered, "he set out—to get the slipper?"

"To steal it?"

"From Hassan of Aleppo?"

I could scarcely believe that any man, single-handed, could have had the hardihood to attempt such a thing.

"From Hassan, yes!"

I faced her, amazed, incredulous.

"Yes?" I urged, as gently as I could, for she was shaking pitifully.

"He never came back!"

The words were spoken almost in a whisper. She clenched her hands and leaped from the chair, fighting down her grief, but with such a stark horror in her beautiful eyes that from my very soul I longed to be able to help her.

"Mr. Cavanaugh—" (She had courtesy, this bewildering accomplice of a crookman.) "I know the house he went to! I cannot hope to make you understand what I have suffered —since then. A thousand times I have been on the point of going to the police, confessing all I know, and leading them to that house! O God!
if only he is alive, this shall be his last crooked deal—and mine! I dared not go to the police, for his sake!
I waited, and watched and hoped,
through two such nights and days
—then I ventured. I should have gone mad if I had not come here. I knew you had good cause to hate, to detest me, but I remembered that you had a great grievance against Hassan. I remembered, too, that you were the kind of man a woman can come to."

"In brief," I said, "what do you propose?"

"I propose that we endeavour to obtain admittance to the house of Hassan of Aleppo—secretly, of course—and all I ask of you in return for revealing the secret of its situation is—"

"That I let Dexter go free?"

Almost inaudibly she whispered,
"If he lives!"

Surely no stranger proposition ever had been submitted to a law-abiding citizen! I wondered what my friend, Inspector Bristol, would have thought of the project; I wondered if I should ever live to see Hassan meet his just deserts as a result of this enterprise, which I was forced to admit a foolhardy one.

For a while I stood staring from the window, then faced about and looked into the violet eyes of my visitor.

"I agree, Carnelia," I said

"Havilah" (Genesis 2:11) must have been Havilah, U.S.A., if it wasn't Kookuk in Iowa. My learned rival puts stress on the similarity of certain biblical and Chinese names.

(1) The poetic American way of referring to autumn as The Fall, by which it is clear they do not mean Niagara.

These are, naturally, not nearly all my points; but they are sufficient to serve for purposes of comparison with Mr. Tee Tan Tai's. If I receive proper encouragement from the public, I may go further into the matter, and address certain geological, psychological, epistemological, biological, and litological points that I have been obliged to hold back for lack of space. It is, for instance, curious that the word Adam, in Greek letters, has the initials of akros, dusis, anatole, and sunset, or north, west, east, and south, while in Volapuk, an American language, we get Iallus, Diddlem, Anyow, and Mokri, which means "Here lived the first people." But I attach little importance to that.

I have been waiting for the newspapers to rub me out, late the cases of sickness cured by Mr. Hickson. Expected to hear of numerous miraculous cures. Has anything gone wrong? Or is it just repertorial laziness again?

Esau has joined the Police Force. People again, who do not know me, know him, and when they see him sitting on the police-station doorstep, they say that rowdy old Adversarius must have been arrested again, and wonder why these cases do not get reported in the papers. It seldom gets as far as the Court. I spent the night at one of the stations on Thursday, but they let me go on paying a few dollars. The meanest trick Esau has done so far was to sit outside a pawnshop. We had a tiff, and I believe he did it on purpose, knowing that it would damage my credit.

I heard of census-takers charging ignorant Chinese for their services. Also, in trying to get all the boat people, the enumerators dabbed crosses, with a mixture of tar paint, on junks and sampans. I hear of one motor-boat owner very savage because his newly painted craft was thus disfigured. I think he has right to be annoyed.

Carefully looking about town, that he was unobserved, and whispering behind his hand, a man you all know stopped me outside the Gospel Hall and said: "I've a wee tale for adversaria. Ye ken a wee engineer? He got back so late from Repulse Bay that he decided to sleep in his office. It was raining and blowing like heck. He got into a spare suit of pyjamas and stepped out on the verandah to take a peek at the night, or something. His door, that has a spring lock, banged to shut him, and there he was, in pyjamas, locked out. He was trying to pry a way in w' a bamboo when the Indian watchman caught him. Will it be in to-morrow?"

I assured him it would, and here it is.

They enticed me into a certain club Saturday night, and taught me several new and ingenious ways of throwing dice for drinks. As the reporters used to put it, "a pleasant time was had, for they were good lads; but I'm afraid they rather bent me before turning me out." The doctor says he will be able to tell me definitely whether he can pull me through this time or not. In the circumstances, I couldn't very well go to the Hickson bird for treatment.

The "Alacrity" joins the rest of the fleet at Weihaiwei.

The Hon. John Storey, Premier of New South Wales, who has been to England, is returning by way of Japan. News has been received by Mr. J. B. Sutor, Commissioner for the Government of New South Wales, that Mr. Storey will arrive by the "Empress of Russia," on June 6, says the Japan Chronicle.

Mr. Storey, who has been Premier since April last year, holds a high position in Australian political life, where his opinion carries great weight. His visit to Japan is therefore of importance.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

STAMP DUTY BILL.

PASSES THIRD READING.

AT TO-DAY'S FORMAL MEETING.

The Stamp Duty Amendment Bill, which has been the subject of so much discussion since its introduction a few weeks ago, passed its third reading at a formal meeting of the Legislative Council held at noon to-day when the following members were present:—

His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government (the Hon. Dr. Claud Severn, C.M.G.).

His Excellency the General Officer Commanding the Troops (Major-General Sir G. M. Kirkpatrick, K.C.B., K.C.S.I.).

The Hon. Colonial Secretary (Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe).

The Hon. Attorney-General (Mr. J. H. Kemp, K.C., C.B.E.).

The Hon. Colonial Treasurer (Mr. C. McL. Messer, O.B.E.).

The Hon. Director of Education (Mr. E. A. Irving).

The Hon. Secretary for Chinese Affairs (Mr. S. B. C. Ross).

The Hon. Director of Public Works (Mr. T. L. Perkins).

Hon. Mr. H. E. Pollock, K.C.

Hon. Mr. Lau Chu-pak.

Hon. Mr. A. O. Lang.

Hon. Mr. Chan Siu-ki.

Mr. S. G. Elderly, Clerk of Council.

The Officer Administering the Government said that the minutes of the previous meeting had not been circulated among the Hon. members and therefore they could not be confirmed and passed at the meeting.

He called upon the Attorney-General to move the extension of the Standing Order.

In doing so and proposing that the minutes stand over for confirmation at the next meeting of the Council the Hon. Attorney-General said that the Standing Order provided for the minutes to be circulated or read out.

In this case the minutes in which were embodied many changes were not ready and he would propose that they would not be read at the meeting.

The Colonial Secretary seconded and the motion was agreed to.

The Colonial Secretary then laid on the table Financial Minute No. 27 and the Financial Returns for 1920.

The Attorney-General moved the third reading of the Stamp Duty Bill as amended and the Colonial Secretary seconded the motion.

Mr. H. E. Pollock said that he had a suggestion to make in connection with the practical working of the Bill which would be hoped to receive the favourable consideration of the Government.

He suggested that there should be kept in the Stamp Office a ledger which would be entered up under the various headings appearing in the schedule of the Bill.

In the past this had not been done with the result that when the Government wanted under the old Ordinance to obtain particulars under each heading for the years 1918 and 1919 the procedure which had to be adopted was a very cumbersome one.

Mr. Lau Chu-pak said he supported the remarks of the previous speaker. He thought the suggestion was a business-like one which should be adopted by the Government.

He, with His Excellency's permission, to represent the views of the Chinese merchants on a matter connected with the Bill.

They felt that the Government had overlooked the interests of Chinese merchants in not having appointed a single Chinese representative to consider the Bill before its introduction in the Council.

Seeing that they were the largest taxpayers in the Colony and that the Bill would affect them more than any other section of the general community he and his Chinese colleagues submitted that they had just ground for complaint.

They hoped that in future on any contemplated measures affecting their interests they would be given an opportunity to express their views through their accredited representatives.

Mr. Lau Chu-pak also stressed the necessity for having the bill translated into Chinese. Its requirements were many and as many Chinese did not have a very good knowledge of English they could not be expected otherwise to understand them thoroughly.

The Colonial Treasurer, referring to the suggestion made by Mr. Pollock, said that certain things could be done no doubt with some increase of staff.

In regard to many of the stamps they really did not know what they were going to be used for and therefore they could never get a proper return under each heading.

They would, however, always know the total amount of the stamps sold.

His Excellency said that he had himself wondered to what extent the Treasury knew of the various stamps used for particular days and years.

the figures that had been got out for the guidance of the Committee in connection with various stamp duties had been arrived at. He certainly thought it should be done and it seemed to him a business like to have some record in series under the different headings. He could quite see that the clerical labour involved would probably be necessary not only to increase in staff but also an increase in the accommodation available in the Treasury. However, the matter was one that would be considered by the Government and he agreed with hon. members that it would be very satisfactory to have such a record.

Hon. Mr. Pollock said that he did not think it would be necessary to have the services of more than one clerk for part of his time and he could not see how it would increase the amount of the accommodation required.

Hon. Mr. Ross said that it had in the past been the invariable rule to translate all bills affecting Chinese and he assured Mr. Lau Chu-pak that in this case that practice would be followed.

The Attorney-General said that in regard to the remark of Mr. Lau Chu-pak he thought it was matter for regret that no Chinese gentleman was included in the committee considering the Bill but it was impossible to make the committee fully representative without making it unduly large. What was intended was to represent not different sections of the community but different occupations and sections of the business community.

His Excellency said that he supported the Attorney-General in expressing regret that no Chinese gentleman was included in the Committee. He thought, however, that Chinese members would agree that, subsequent to the publication of the Bill, the Council had allowed representations to be made and had adopted them as far as possible.

The motion for the third reading of the Bill having been carried.

His Excellency said that he desired to thank hon. members for their great assistance in a very difficult measure and also all those who sent in representations in connection with the various clauses of the Bill.

The Council then adjourned sine die.

FINANCIAL MINUTE.

The Officer Administering the Government recommends the Council to vote a sum of $1,500 to aid of the vote Judicial and Legal Departments, Supreme Court. Other Charges, Library.

The Colonial Secretary said that a barrister who was leaving the Colony possessed a fine library which the Attorney-General recommended the Government should purchase. The matter was a pressing one and was brought forward without warning because the owner of the library was leaving shortly and the deal would have to be closed immediately.

The minute was agreed to.

MURDER CHARGE.

DISPOSING OF THE BODY.

THIRD MAN ARRESTED.

In connection with the Ngautan case in which two Chinese are held on remand, the one on a charge of murdering a fellow villager, and the other on a charge of having assisted the first man to dispose of the corpse, a third man was this morning brought before Magistrate Omer charged with having employed the second man to get rid of the body. The accused pleaded "not guilty," and was remanded with the others until 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday when evidence will be taken.

$11,000 GONE.

MISSING SHROFF SOUGHT.

Yesterday afternoon a young Chinese shroff employed by the Chinese Merchants Bank was instructed by the compradore to collect $11,000 from the Bank of Canton. He received the money, but has failed to return to his bank. The police have been informed, and a warrant is out for the youth's arrest.

For unlawfully boarding a vessel before permission to do so had been given by the police, the mistress of a sampan was fined at the Marine Court to-day. Evidence was given that when the s.s. "Sinking" arrived in the harbour at about 7:30 o'clock this morning the defendant tied up her boat alongside the steamer while the police flag was still flying and six other persons were on board.

Her imposing 40-horsepower 25-ton Marine Magistrate (Lieutenant Conway Hake, R.N.R.) remarked that the offence was one that was becoming far too prevalent.
